Dear Hiring Manager,

I would like to throw in my hat as an applicant for my End-Of- Study internship at your company, I have the analytical mind necessary to write code and the big-picture mentality to make it innovative and unique. I also enjoy overseeing projects, organizing people and channeling them into areas where they can make the best use of their talents, I'm thrilled at the prospect of becoming a part of your team and placing my abilities at your service.

Last Summer I've made a career choice as a salesforce developer during my internship at D&A Technologies, this experience entailed working with teams of developers to write salesforce apps with varying functionalities from mobile games to search algorithms. Collaborating with other developers not only honed my coding skills but also taught me the value of how to effectively work with others and subdivide tasks to improve efficiency and ensure smooth teamwork.

With my experience in software development, Salesforce and public speaking, I've decided to combine my skills and become a salesforce Developer/Engineer.

I am honored to have the opportunity to apply my unique set of skills to assist your organization and its clients. I don't believe there is any contradiction between appreciating the logic in tightly-written software and being a people person, and I look forward to showing you how I can combine these things as we move along in the hiring process.

Sincerely
